

From: Masha Drokova <[REDACTED]>
To: Robert Trivers <[REDACTED]>
Cc: "jeffrey E." <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Subject: Re: Questions for article
Date: Thu, 24 Aug 2017 23:15:17 +0000

Robert, thank you for the great quote and speedy response. Huffington Post just published the article http://m.huffpost.com/us/entry/us_599f532ae4b0d0ef9f1c129d

On Aug 24, 2017, at 1:42 PM, Robert Trivers <[REDACTED]> wrote:

add the following:

Key is he gives me consistent, warm support AT NEGLIGIBLE COST TO ME and trusts me to put it to good use, as indeed I do.

'Negligible cost' refers to no grant writing

On Thu, Aug 24, 2017 at 4:26 PM, Robert Trivers <[REDACTED]> wrote:

They have permitted me to work on whatever i choose in whatever way I choose. Most of this is theoretical work. I think I have recently solved the problem of "honour killings" in terms of the effects of repeated first cousin marriages (Muslim) and long histories of within caste endogamy (Hindu). Jeffrey's support included discussions with him, valuable mostly because he is extremely bright, open-minded and widely travelled.

i can give you more (e.g. support for empirical work on elite Jamaican sprinters) but as you asked for a brief quote, i will cease and desist.

Key is he gives me consistent, warm support and trusts me to put it to good use, as indeed I do.

If you need more, just write.

with best wishes

On Thu, Aug 24, 2017 at 2:13 PM, Masha Drokova <[REDACTED]> wrote:
Robert,

Great meeting you. We work with Huffington Post on a publication about Jeffrey's work with scientists. We'd appreciate if you give us a brief quote answering the question:

How has Jeffery Epstein's donations helped you advance your research?

It'll be great if you manage to respond sometimes today as they want to run the article asap.

On Aug 24, 2017, at 10:58 AM, jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:

1. How has Jeffery Epstein's donations helped you advance your research?